Anti-racism: Word and Life Launches Its Winter Online Forum

By Maura Conlon-McIvor, Special to VOICE

A COLLECTIVE WAKE-UP CALL ISSUED IN 2020, regarding unaddressed issues around race relations in our country, found the New York Times reporting that almost all of the bestselling books on Amazon and Barnes and Noble lists explored this issue. It also found local communities grappling to respond.

Santa Barbara-based Word and Life, an organization that supports contemplative living and learning, will begin to explore this poignant topic in its Winter series: Confronting Racism starting January 14th. Two books have been selected as a foundation for the program: Ibram X. Kendi's How to be an Anti-Racist and Howard Thurman's, Jesus and the Disinherited.

"Anti-Racism is a transformative concept that re-orientates and re-energizes the conversation about racism—and points us toward liberating new ways of thinking about ourselves and each other," explained series co-organizer Pat McClure.

The ten-week series will be held via Zoom, Thursdays, 10 to 11:30am, January 14th to March 18th. The entire community is welcome to participate in the series. Cost is $67.

Local leaders with expertise in the field will deliver weekly presentations to address ideas about and solutions to racial division in our own communities. The presenters include: Rev. Dr. David Moore (January 14th), Vashti Tameka Wilson, Tracy Macuga, Matt Lowe, Leslye Colvin, James Joyce III, Rev. Chris Brown, Jordan Killebrew, and Fr. Jim Clarke, as well as videos with the author, Ibram Kendi. The format includes speaker presentations, followed by breakout discussions, and large group reflections.

Word and Life, founded in 1977, honors cultivating awareness and emboldening action. McClure adds: "We think of Thurman's book as the 'word' and Ibram Kendi's breakthrough book as the 'life' in our Winter course. Putting our faith and belief into the real-time practice of becoming aware of our habits and defenses to the restorative work of anti-racism is what Ibram Kendi's life story calls us to do." She adds Howard Thurman's book was the theological basis of much of Martin Luther King Jr.'s work for civil rights, a book that Dr. King carried in his briefcase.

One of the series featured speakers, Matt Lowe, suggests, "To imagine this new world requires deep spiritual action and practice; just as walking the path of healing through the truth and reconciliation process does."

Given the importance of the topic, VOICE will follow up with further articles and reflections about AntiRacism in our community via continued discussion with presenters from the Word and Life series.

For information and to register, visit www.WordandLife.us.

Antirracismo: Word and Life lanza su foro de invierno en línea

Por Maura Conlon-McIvor, Especial para VOICE

UNA LLAMADA DE ATENCIÓN COLECTIVA EMITIDA EN 2020, con respecto a cuestiones no abordadas en torno a las relaciones raciales en nuestro país, encontró el New York Times informando que casi todos los libros más vendidos en las listas de Amazon y Barnes and Noble exploraban este tema. También encontró comunidades locales luchando por responder.

Word and Life, con sede en Santa Bárbara, una organización que apoya la vida y el aprendizaje contemplativos, comenzará a explorar este tema conmovedor en su serie de invierno: Enfrentando el racismo a partir del 14 de enero. Se han seleccionado dos libros como base para el programa: Cómo ser un antirracista por Ibram X. Kendi y Jesus y los desheredados por Howard Thurman.

"El antirracismo es un concepto transformador que reorienta y revitaliza la conversación sobre el racismo – y nos dirige hacia la liberación de nuevas formas de pensar sobre nosotros mismos y los demás," explicó Pat McClure, el coorganizador de la serie.

La serie de diez semanas se llevará a cabo a través de Zoom, los jueves de 10 a 11:30am, del 14 de enero al 18 de marzo. Toda la comunidad es bienvenida a participar en la serie. El costo es de $67.

Los líderes locales con experiencia en el campo realizarán presentaciones semanales para abordar ideas y soluciones a la división racial en nuestras propias comunidades. Los presentadores incluyen: Rev. Dr. David Moore (14 de enero), Vashti Tameka Wilson, Tracy Macuga, Matt Lowe, Leslye Colvin, James Joyce III, Rev. Chris Brown, Jordan Killebrew y Fr. Jim Clarke, así como videos con el autor, Ibram Kendi. El formato incluye presentaciones de oradores, seguidas de debates grupales y reflexiones de grupos grandes.

Word and Life, fundada en 1977, honra el cultivo de la conciencia y el envalentonamiento de la acción. McClure agrega: "Pensamos en el libro de Thurman como la 'palabra' y el libro revolucionario de Ibram Kendi como la 'vida' en nuestro curso de invierno. Poner nuestra fe y creencia en la práctica en tiempo real de tomar conciencia de nuestros hábitos y defensas para el trabajo restaurador del antirracismo es lo que la historia de vida de Ibram Kendi nos llama a hacer." Agrega que el libro de Howard Thurman fue la base teológica de gran parte del trabajo de Martin Luther King Jr. por los derechos civiles, un libro que el Dr. King llevaba en su maletín.

Uno de los oradores destacados de la serie, Matt Lowe, sugiere: "Para imaginar este nuevo mundo se requiere una profunda acción y práctica espiritual; al igual que caminar por el camino de la curación a través del proceso de verdad y reconciliación."

Dada la importancia del tema, VOICE continuará con más artículos y reflexiones sobre el antirracismo en nuestra comunidad a través de una discusión continua con los presentadores de la serie Word and Life.
